Building Safety Division Modified Inspection Procedures

In adherence to Federal guidelines and the State and City orders to implement social distancing practices and minimize health risks to the community due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Culver City Building Safety Division is conducting virtual inspections and limited in-person inspections.

Virtual inspections and limited in-person inspections conducted under the current extreme situation are not intended as a substitution for required Culver City Building Safety inspections under normal circumstances. Inspections conducted during this period will be recorded as being completed under these terms. These modified virtual inspections may be compromised due to their inherent limitation and the potential to overlook violations and non-compliance elements. Inspection approval or sign-off shall not be construed as an approval of a violation or non-compliance oversight and it shall not constitute a waiver of Culver City's ability to enforce the adopted Codes or the scope of issued permits and approvals. If later inspections reveal noncompliance with Code, approved plans, or development approvals, the contractor and/or owner shall correct the errors as they are responsible for code compliance of the project. The City of Culver City assumes no additional liability beyond what is defined in the currently adopted Building Code. The contractor and owner carry all assumed and assigned liability as defined by law.
