LOCATION OVERVIEW

INGLEWOOD, CA

Inglewood has become one of the fastest-transforming cities in Los Angeles County, evolving from a historically overlooked inner-ring suburb into Southern California's premier sports and entertainment destination. Located roughly 3 miles east of LAX and 10 miles southwest of Downtown Los Angeles, Inglewood sits at the geographic and cultural center of the region's biggest development story of the past decade.

The city's renaissance is anchored by SoFi Stadium and the broader Hollywood Park development, but the momentum extends well beyond the stadium district. Downtown Inglewood, centered on Market Street, has seen sustained public and private reinvestment, including a new Metro K Line rail station that opened in 2022 connecting the neighborhood directly to Metro's regional rail system. With the 2028 Olympic Games bringing events to the city (SoFi Stadium, the Forum, and the Intuit Dome are all confirmed venues), Inglewood is positioned for a sustained cycle of infrastructure investment and rising visibility through the end of the decade.

For multifamily investors, Inglewood offers a rare combination: a dense, renter-majority population base with a long history of housing cost pressure, layered on top of a once-in-a-generation wave of stadium-driven jobs, tourism, and public investment.

LOCATION HIGHLIGHTS

LAX-ADJACENT EMPLOYMENT ACCESS

Inglewood sits roughly 3 miles east of Los Angeles International Airport, one of the busiest airports in the world and the anchor of one of the largest employment corridors in Southern California. The surrounding area supports tens of thousands of jobs across aviation operations, air cargo and logistics, aerospace manufacturing, and hospitality, giving Inglewood residents a deep, diversified employment base within a short commute that doesn't depend on any single industry or employer.

This proximity matters beyond convenience. LAX-driven employment predates Inglewood's current stadium and entertainment boom by decades and will continue to anchor local labor demand long after the current development cycle matures. For a rental housing market, that combination is valuable: a stable, blue-collar and service-sector jobs base from LAX and its surrounding logistics corridor, layered underneath the newer, higher-visibility demand driven by SoFi Stadium, Intuit Dome, and Hollywood Park. Few submarkets in Los Angeles County can point to two distinct, non-overlapping demand drivers sitting this close together.

FREEWAY AND REGIONAL RAIL ACCESS

Inglewood is served directly by the 405, 105, and 110 Freeways, placing residents within easy reach of the South Bay, the broader LA Basin, and Downtown Los Angeles without relying on a single congested corridor. The 405 provides the primary north-south spine connecting Inglewood to the Westside and South Bay employment centers, while the 105 offers a fast east-west link toward LAX and the 605/710 industrial corridors, and the 110 connects north into Downtown LA and south toward the Harbor area.

On the rail side, Metro's K Line gives Inglewood a genuine transit option, not just a freeway-dependent commute. The Downtown Inglewood Station, which opened in 2022 at La Brea and Florence Avenues, connects riders into the broader Metro rail network, and the K Line is designed as part of the larger Crenshaw/LAX corridor that will eventually offer a one-seat rail connection between Inglewood and LAX itself. That combination of multi-freeway access and an active, expanding rail line is a rare amenity for a submarket at this price point, and it's a meaningful differentiator when underwriting long-term rent growth against comparable Gateway Cities and South Bay-adjacent submarkets that lack the same transit investment.

SOFI STADIUM

SoFi Stadium is a state-of-the-art sports and entertainment venue in Inglewood, California, serving as home to the NFL's Los Angeles Rams and Los Angeles Chargers. Opened in 2020, the stadium features a translucent roof canopy, open-air sides, and the massive "Infinity Screen," one of the largest video boards in sports. With a seating capacity of roughly 70,000 that expands to over 100,000 for major events, SoFi has already hosted Super Bowl LVI and WrestleMania 39, and is confirmed to host matches for the 2026 FIFA World Cup and events for the 2028 Summer Olympics.

INTUIT DOME

Intuit Dome opened in 2024 as the new home of the Los Angeles Clippers, joining SoFi Stadium and the Kia Forum to make Inglewood the densest concentration of major sports venues in the country. Built as a purpose-designed basketball arena, the Dome features cutting-edge fan technology and a seating bowl engineered specifically for basketball sightlines, distinguishing it from the multi-purpose stadiums nearby. Its arrival cements Inglewood as a year-round, not just gameday-driven, entertainment destination.

KIA FORUM

The Kia Forum is one of the most storied concert and event venues in Southern California, having hosted decades of marquee performances long before Inglewood's current development boom. Now operating alongside SoFi Stadium, Intuit Dome, and YouTube Theater, the Forum anchors the western edge of Inglewood's entertainment core, giving the city four major venues within walking distance of one another and reinforcing its position as a year-round destination for sports, concerts, and large-scale events.
