

a note from the seller...

I want to be honest with you from the start. I do not want to sell this home. Not even a little bit.

I bought this house because of the updates, the space, and the neighborhood, and every single day since has confirmed that it was the right decision. The vaulted ceilings in the living area make the space feel open and airy. The walk-in shower in the primary is one of those small luxuries that becomes part of your daily routine in the best way. The screened back porch has been one of my favorite spots in the world, a place to sit quietly while the kids play in the yard and the neighborhood settles into the evening.

And that neighborhood. I cannot say enough about it. My boys have found their people here. There are children on every street their age, and I have watched them run loose and play until dark more times than I can count, feeling completely at ease because this is simply that kind of place. The neighbors have become genuine friends. It is quiet, warm, and the kind of community that is genuinely hard to find.

A recent change has made selling our home the right decision for our family. This home deserves a family that can stay in it for a long time and soak up everything it has to offer, because there is a lot.

Whoever you are, I hope you love it here as much as I do. I really mean that.
