EXCEPTIONAL BY DESIGN

This is not simply a custom home. It is a residence that cannot be replicated. Personally designed in collaboration with the architect and built by Fedrick Harris, every element of this 4,835 square foot home was thoughtfully considered for the way a homeowner wants to live. With this level of customization no longer offered by the builder, there will never be another home exactly like it.

Inside, exceptional craftsmanship meets effortless livability, with hand scraped hardwood and marble flooring, custom cabinetry and millwork, beautifully appointed entertaining spaces, and a serene primary retreat. Every room feels intentional, elevated, yet still warm and comfortable enough to truly feel like home.

Beyond the interiors, the property becomes its own private retreat. Lush landscaping and no rear neighbors create remarkable privacy around the resort style pool, while an outdoor kitchen and multiple covered living spaces invite year round entertaining. A separate casita style space overlooking the pool adds another dimension to the property. Currently enjoyed as a private home gym, it could just as easily become a recreation room, pool retreat, or flexible living space.

The setting is equally special. Tucked behind the gates of Sheldon Lake, one of Bridgeland's most secluded enclaves, the home offers privacy while placing its owners within one of Houston's premier master planned communities. Miles of trails, lakes, pools, parks, and exceptional amenities are just beyond the gates, along with highly acclaimed Cypress Fairbanks ISD schools.

This is a home created without compromise and impossible to duplicate.
