41 RESIDENTIAL CONDOMINIUM CONCEPTS

42 In general terms, residential Condominiums take what otherwise might have been an apartment, townhouse or house, and permits
43 individual sales of the separate dwelling Units. All of the dwelling Unit owners own the common areas together and collectively pay
44 for the upkeep and other common expenses. A Condominium, however, is not like living in an apartment because the owner is 45 usually responsible for the maintenance and repair of everything within the Unit - the property manager does not take care of it, as 46 would be the case with a tenant. To understand Condominium ownership, an understanding of certain key concepts is needed.

47 ■ Declaration: The Declaration is a written document that creates a Condominium from one or more parcels of real estate. In the 48 Declaration, the owner declares his or her property to now be a Condominium. The Declaration divides the property into several 49 smaller parcels: Units, which are individually owned, and the Common Elements, which are owned in common by all of the Unit
50 owners together. The Declaration sets out what percentage of ownership interest in the Common Elements is assigned to each
51 Unit, and the number of votes that the owner of each Unit has in the Association.

52 ■ Declarant: The Declarant is the builder or developer who declares his or her property to be a Condominium by recording the 53 Declaration and plat maps. The Declarant may reserve a period of "Declarant Control" that gives the Declarant time to finish
54 construction of the Condominium project and/or to sell the Units. During this period, the Declarant exercises the powers and 55 responsibilities of the Association through its exclusive right to appoint the directors to the Association board. As the Units are sold
56 to purchasers, elections are held at different intervals and the Unit owners (other than the Declarant) elect an increasing number of 57 the directors. Declarant Control lasts up to ten years in expandable Condominiums and up to three years in other Condominiums.

58 ■ Unit: A Unit is the part of the Condominium that is privately owned and used by the Unit owner. A Unit owner has exclusive
59 ownership and possession of his or her Unit. The statutes define Unit in terms of cubicles of air, enclosed spaces located on one or 60 more floors, and rooms. A Unit may also include structural parts of a building (walls, wood frame) or a Unit may be a whole
61 building, a building plus the surrounding land, or just land (similar to a lot). Units may also include separate areas that are some 62 distance apart. For example, a Unit may include a dwelling plus a storage area, patio or parking space. The boundaries of each Unit
63 are defined in the Declaration, which may describe the perimeter walls, sometimes known as the "perimetric boundaries," the upper
64 boundaries and the lower boundaries. Generally, everything within these boundaries will be part of the Unit. Therefore, each Unit's
65 boundaries may impact the Unit owner's maintenance responsibilities, ability to make improvements or alterations, and insurance
66 liability.

67 ■ Common Elements: Common Elements means everything else in the Condominium that is not a Unit. In a typical residential 68 Condominium, the Common Elements may include the land, the exterior and common areas of buildings (entranceway, halls,
69 elevator, meeting room, etc.), landscaping, roads, any outside parking areas, outdoor lighting, any recreational facilities (swimming 70 pool, tennis courts, clubhouse, etc.) and all other common areas and amenities.

71 ■ Limited Common Elements: The Limited Common Elements are Common Elements that are identified in the Declaration or plat
72 as reserved for the exclusive use of less than all of the Unit owners. Typically, a Limited Common Element will be reserved for the 73 use of just one Unit. Basically, you don't own it individually, but you are the only one who may use it. This exclusive use, however,
74 may be subject to restrictions stated in the Declaration, Bylaws or Condominium rules and regulations. Limited Common Elements
75 may include features like a storage area, patio, balcony, garage parking space, or a boat slip.

76 ■ Percentage Interests: Every Unit owner shares in the ownership of the Common Elements with the other owners. Each Unit is 77 allotted a portion of this ownership interest called the Percentage Interests. The Percentage Interests are stated in the Declaration
78 and come automatically with the ownership of a Unit. The Percentage Interests often determine the share of common expenses that 79 the Unit owner must pay for the repair and maintenance of the Common Elements and for the operation of the Association.
80 Percentage Interests may be an equal percentage for all Units, in proportion to the square footage of the Units, based upon the 81 location or value of the Units, or based upon some other formula stated in the Declaration.

82 ■ Association: The Association is the entity that the Unit owners use to act together as a group to manage and maintain the 83 Condominium property and finances. This group will be either a nonstock, nonprofit corporation or an unincorporated Association.
84 Every Unit owner is automatically a member of the Association and votes for the Association directors who, on behalf of the 85 Association, manage and maintain the Common Elements, adopt budgets and set the amount of the fees or assessments paid by 86 the Unit owners for the Association's common expenses. The Association directors typically are responsible for the maintenance of 87 the Condominium property, including lawn and garden care, snow removal, painting, roofs, and amenities such as swimming pools
88 and tennis courts. They are responsible for collecting assessment fees, maintaining books and records, overseeing reserve funds,
89 preparing financial reports, and filing tax returns. The board of directors is responsible for enforcing the rules and providing 90 disclosure materials for Unit sales. Some or all of these functions may be delegated to a Condominium manager or other 91 professionals such as accountants.

92 ■ Assessment Fees: The Association sets a budget for all of the Condominium expenses and divides those expenses among the 93 Unit owners. These fees are called "common assessments" or "condo maintenance fees" and typically are paid monthly. The 94 Association may also create reserves for future maintenance and repairs.

*Note: A Statutory Reserve Account" is a specific type of reserve account established under Wis. Stat. § 703.163 to be used for the repair and replacement of the common elements in a residential condominium (optional for a small condominium with less than 13 units or a mixed-use condominium with residential and non-residential units). In a new condominium, the developer initially decides whether to have a statutory reserve account, but after the declarant control period ends, the association may opt-in or opt-out of a statutory reserve account with the written consent of a majority of the unit votes. Existing condominiums must establish a statutory reserve account by May 1, 2006 unless the association elects to not establish the account by the written consent of a majority of the unit votes. Condominiums may also have other reserve fund accounts used for the repair and replacement of the common elements that operate apart from §703.165.

Dear Homeowners,

As previously communicated, the dryer vent cleaning has been completed by Dryer Vent Wizard. As stated in our email dated June 8, 2026, a special assessment of $72.60 per unit has been established to cover each unit's portion of the cost of this service.

Please be advised that this special assessment will be due after October 1, 2026. The exact due date and payment instructions will be provided to you by our new management company, MPS Property Management, after the management transition.

At this time, no payment is required through Ogden Management for this special assessment. Please wait for further instructions from MPS Property Management regarding the payment due date and available payment options.

Thank you for your patience and cooperation during this transition.

Sincerely,
Agnieszka McKnight

Sincerely,

F1. Are you aware of the property being part of or subject to a subdivision homeowners' association, or other homeowners' association?	☐	☒	☐
F2. If the property is not a condominium unit, are you aware of common areas associated with the property that are co-owned with others?	☐	☒	☐
F3. Are you aware of any zoning code violations with respect to the property?	☐	☒	☐
F4. Are you aware of the property or any portion of the property being located in a floodplain, wetland, or shoreland zoning area?	☐	☒	☐
F5. Are you aware of nonconforming uses of the property? A nonconforming use is a use of land, a dwelling, or a building that existed lawfully before the current zoning ordinance was enacted or amended, but that does not conform to the use restrictions in the current ordinance.	☐	☒	☐
F6. Are you aware of conservation easements on the property? A conservation easement is a legal agreement in which a property owner conveys some of the rights associated with ownership of his or her property to an easement holder such as a governmental unit or a qualified nonprofit organization to protect the natural habitat of fish, wildlife, or plants or a similar ecosystem, preserve areas for outdoor recreation or education, or for similar purposes.	☐	☒	☐
F7. Are you aware of restrictive covenants or deed restrictions on the property? A restrictive covenant or deed restriction may include a provision that imposes resale price limits, occupancy requirements, or other restrictions for a specific period of time (e.g., a development that received Infrastructure Access or Vacancy-to-Vitality funds from the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority (WHEDA). For more information, visit https://www.wheda.com).	☐	☒	☐
F8. Other than public rights of ways, are you aware of nonowners having rights to use part of the property, including, but not limited to, private rights-of-way and easements other than recorded utility easements?	☐	☒	☐
